

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

FläktGroup® SEMCO™ Embarks on Its First Road Show Tour

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 11, 2024 — FläktGroup SEMCO's energy recovery experts are hitting the road this week in the company's new mobile demonstration van, showcasing the award-winning 3fficiency™ system. SEMCO's road show represents its commitment to delivering smart, energy-efficient air distribution and air quality, as well as superior support to customers.

The road show van is equipped with the three key components of the 3fficiency system package: a functioning NEUTON™ chilled beam pump module and an active chilled beam for SEMCO experts to demonstrate, as well as a True3Å total energy recovery wheel, the core technology in the Pinnacle® dedicated outside air system. For those who are unable to visit a 3fficiency installation firsthand, the road show is a convenient alternative to experience the technology that makes SEMCO a driving force in the HVAC industry.

About FläktGroup SEMCO

FläktGroup SEMCO is the North American division of FläktGroup. Doing business as SEMCO until 2017, the company has been developing and manufacturing products that improve indoor air quality and provide efficient air distribution since 1963. Since its founding as a sheet metal fabrication company with five employees, the company has built a reputation as a worldwide product innovator in the science of air movement, noise abatement, energy efficiency and indoor air quality with more than 200 employees and more than 200 manufacturer's representatives. Major product lines include energy recovery equipment, chilled beams, acoustic thermal panels and silencers, and spiral metal HVAC duct. FläktGroup SEMCO is based in Columbia, Missouri, and operates three manufacturing facilities in the United States—two in Morrilton, Arkansas, and one in Roanoke, Virginia. For more information, please visit www.semcohvac.com; email sales.semco@flaktgroup.com; or call 1-573-443-1481.

CONTACT:

Jake Schnarre
Director of Product Management and Marketing
FläktGroup SEMCO
573-886-1102
jake.schnarre@flaktgroup.com
